

Advisory Notice / Canada Post Strike / May 22

Dear,,

We want to inform you of a potential Canada Post strike, which could begin as early as Friday, May 23, 2025, at 12:00 a.m. local time. If no agreement is reached, this may lead to significant delivery delays or full service suspension.

What to expect:

- Rotating Strike: Canada Post has indicated it will attempt to maintain delivery in unaffected regions, but delays should be expected.
- Full Strike: If a national labour disruption occurs, no mail or parcels will be delivered, and no new shipments will be accepted.
- Backlog Risk: Even after operations resume, processing delays are likely as Canada Post works through backlogs.
- Limitations: Alternative carriers cannot deliver to PO boxes or all apartment buildings, which may result in delivery challenges for some addresses.

What we're doing:

- We've already communicated with our warehouse and eCommerce clients and provided alternative carrier options (e.g., FedEx, UPS).
- We recommend monitoring the Canada Post website for real-time updates.

Questions or concerns?

If your operation may be affected, or if you'd like to discuss alternate shipping arrangements, please reach out to us:

👉 Click here to contact us

We're committed to keeping your business moving and will support you through disruptions.